WHITE GRUBS SERIOUS IN IOWA

(Phyllophaga sp.)

White grubs threatens serious damage in southeastern Iowa. Mr. H. E. Jaques of the Iowa Wesleyan College at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, reports that Brood A of white grubs threatens to be fully as serious in southeastern Iowa this year as it was in 1921. It now appears to be extending its area of infestation westward. Grubs have been showing up abundantly in the spring plowing.
